E. Cox.

OUTBREAK AGAINST CASTRO REPORTED BY SLEEPER

United States Minister Sleeper, at Caracas, reports to the State Department that fighting occurred at Ontonago four days ago. This place is on the Venezuelan-Colombian border, and the fighting is supposed to be the first outbreak of a new revolution against President Castro. No further details are given by Mr. Sleeper.

WOULDN'T RENEW SUBSCRIPTION.

The bookkeeper of a sportsman's publication received a letter one day from an old subscriber, stating that he had long read it with interest and was aware that it was time to renew his subscription, but did not wish to do so, as he would not need it in the future. It was not noticed that the postmark was that of a town in which a State prison is located, but the postscript was eloquent. It said: "P. S.—I am to be hung next week."—Forest and Stream.

GUARD NEGRO WITH RIFLES AT FORT MYER

Bayonets Fixed, Guns Loaded, Militia Protects Alleged Murderer.

Much comment has been heard in Alexandria on the action of Governor Swanson in ordering the Fredericksburg company to protect Midgots.

The question as to why the Fredericksburg company was ordered here instead of the Alexandria Light Infantry has caused some talk. It is explained, however, by those in authority that it is the custom not to call out the local militia to protect a prisoner for an offense committed in their home city, as more effective work can be done by an out-of-town company.

Midgots, whose trial begins tomorrow, spent a restless night in his cell at Fort Myer jail. Capt. T. L. Larkin, First Lieut. Addison Billingsley, and Second Lieut. E. M. Leavel, officers of Company L, Seventeenth Virginia, from Fredericksburg, took every precaution to guard the prisoner. Bayonets were fixed as soon as the prisoner reached the jail, which is about three-quarters of a mile from the Aqueduct bridge. At dusk Captain Larkin issued twenty rounds of ammunition to each man. The soldiers are still equipped with the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, which holds a clip of five cartridges. Shortly after the ammunition was issued, each man put a clip in his rifle and was given orders to shoot to kill if a demonstration was made against the little jail. Jailer Collins was also armed and stood prepared for an attack.

Company Quickly Gathered.

Company L made a remarkable showing for a volunteer organization. It is composed of forty-nine enlisted men, all of whom have employment in business places in Fredericksburg. A few hours after Governor Swanson's order for the company reached Captain Larkin he telegraphed to the men in uniform ready for service. These forty-four men and the three officers camped in the Fort Myer court house last night. The soldiers had "mess" about 7 o'clock this morning. They brought their own cook with them, and purchased about $100 worth of provisions in Georgetown in anticipation of a week's stay in Alexandria county. They had ham and eggs, potato cakes, apples, bread, butter, and coffee for breakfast. Yesterday evening at 6 o'clock they had sirloin steak, French fried potatoes, baked beans, dried peaches, bread, butter, and coffee. All the soldiers had been up since early yesterday morning, and they ate heartily and rested well during their repast. A few of the soldiers obtained leave and came to Washington, but returned to the court house before 10 o'clock.

Militia Has Experience.

Blankets were spread out on the floor of the room in which trials are held. Without removing their uniforms the soldiers wrapped themselves up and were soon sound asleep.

Captain Larkin, who has had considerable experience in guarding prisoners in country jails, says he fears no trouble from residents of Alexandria coming to see the prisoner. Company L guarded a criminal at Roanoke and also quelled the riot incident in the street car men's strike in Richmond. This company turned out 36 men, all of whom were more than ready to fight. Captain McKimley called for volunteers in 1899. They were quartered at Camp Alger, a short distance from the Fort Myer court house.

Each soldier in Company L receives $12 a month, which includes food and clothing. This is State pay. One dollar is for duty performed and the remainder is allowed for rations.

CANNOT LOCATE SHONTS' CHAUFFEUR

Inability to procure the correct name of Mrs. Shonts' chauffeur who ran her touring car through Glen Echo at a rate of forty miles an hour and paid no heed to bullets on Saturday night, has prevented Mayor John Garrett and Town Marshal Collins from swearing out a warrant for his arrest. Mayor Garrett said today he had learned that the chauffeur's name is Bell, but he has not been able to ascertain the operator's given name.

"As soon as we learn his correct name the warrant will be sworn and served," said Mayor Garrett. "It will be given to Marshal Collins to serve. The chauffeur does not seem disposed to come without protest I shall take out requisition papers in Annapolis and bring him to Rockville for trial." Marshal Collins was busy in the Rockville court house today. He is testifying in several other speed law cases. Two warrants were sworn out for men believed to be Mrs. Shonts' chauffeur, but when Mayor Garrett learned that the names of the processes were erroneous, he recalled and destroyed them. Robert Caverly, president of the Washington Automobileists' Association, said this morning that although he had agreed to turn over to Mayor Garrett all members of the organization who violated the speed law in consideration of the limit being doubled, he could take no action in the instance of Mrs. Shonts' chauffeur because she is not a member. The Caverly-Garrett agreement does not go into effect until April 1.

NEWBERRY WILL HAND DIPLOMAS TO NAVY DOCTORS

Medical School's Closing Exercises Occur Wednesday.

Surgeon General Rixey Will Also Address Graduates.

President of the Faculty, J. C. Wise, Will Preside.

Truman H. Newberry, Acting Secretary of the Navy, will present diplomas to the members of the class of assistant and acting assistant surgeons at the closing exercises of the United States Naval Medical School, at the foot of Twenty-fourth street northwest, Saturday morning. There are twenty-eight members in the class that is finishing up the work preparatory to receiving promotions in the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, all of them being graduates of medical schools previously.

At the opening of the exercises, an invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Randolph Harrison McKim, director of the Church of the Epiphany. Mr. Newberry will then make a brief address to the graduates from the course and present the diplomas, after which an address will be delivered by Dr. J. Chalmers da Costa, of Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia. Closing remarks will be made by Surgeon General P. M. Rixey. The program will be liberally interspersed with music, and the exercises will be presided over by Medical Director John Cropper Wise, president of the faculty of the school.

The names of the young medical officers of the navy, with the States from which they are appointed, follow: Abraham Herbert Allen, Pennsylvania; Matthew Howard Ames, Maryland; Byron Clarke Baker, Tennessee; Robert Butts, Missouri; Dow Holmes Casto, West Virginia; Frederick De Sales Chappard, Maryland; Isidore Franklin Cohn, Pennsylvania; Elmer E. Conant, Oklahoma; Henry Louis Dillard, New York; Donald Nelson, Tennessee; John Ohio Downey, West Virginia; John Flint, Massachusetts; James Plummer Haynes, Kentucky; Earle Phineas Hult, New York; James McKimley, Texas; Edwin Lee Jones, New Mexico; John Brooks Kaufman, Virginia; William Solomon Kuder, Pennsylvania; Andrew Edward Lee, California; Rudolph Ignatius Longbaugh, California; James Morgan, Georgia; Thomas Wrightson Ralston, Kentucky; Robert Cathcart Randall, District of Columbia; Aisley Hamilton Robnett, Texas; Walter Frank Schaller, California; Harry Luther Smith, Pennsylvania; Willard George Steadman, Jr., Connecticut; Condie Knox Winn, Alabama.

These two conflicting statements, therefore, do not impress the Eltz family or Stumpner's wife favorably, and she has expressed the intention of remaining, for a time at least, at her father's home. She is also of the opinion that her husband came to Washington as indicated by the Baltimore dispatch, but learning that his mission had become known, returned on the next train for that city.

Family Not Impressed.

MOVING OF DEWEY TO GET MORE ROOM

Admiral Dewey has explained his reasons for planning to move from the house on Rhode Island avenue, as told exclusively in The Sunday Times.

"Mrs. Dewey," said the admiral, "was the house at Sixteenth and K streets which until recently has been occupied by Mr. Hittcock, who has just retired as Secretary of the Interior. The house was presented to him by her father, and for several years it has been her desire to occupy it. Now Mrs. Dewey has lost her tenant, we are planning to move into the other house."

It is understood that the Rhode Island avenue house, which was presented to him by the American people, while handsome and comfortable, is not as commodious as it should be to permit elaborate entertaining. Admiral Dewey and his wife have occupied it since soon after he retired from the navy, and it is filled with handsome gifts showered upon Admiral Dewey after his victory.

The house in Fifteenth street presented to General Sherman is now owned by Mrs. Dewey, and is used as a millinery shop. Secretary of the Interior has looked at Admiral Dewey's Rhode Island avenue house with a view to leasing it.

WANTS BRIDE HE THREATENED TO PARDON HIM

Stumpner Fails to Turn Up at Home of Wife's Parents.

J. Howard Stumpner, reported by the Baltimore police on Sunday night as being en route to Washington to be arrested on route to killing his wife, evidently regrets his former conduct, and it was stated by the young bride's family this morning that she had received three letters from Stumpner imploring her forgiveness and begging her to return to her home in Baltimore.

Mrs. Matilda Stumpner, a runaway bride of seven months came to Washington Saturday and sought refuge with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Elitz, 1233 C street northeast, alleging that her husband had been mistreating her for weeks. Mrs. Elitz says that her daughter's body shows many bruises in support of this statement.

Home Was Barricaded.

The police department received word Sunday that Stumpner had left Baltimore armed with a revolver and a bottle of laudanum on a hunt for his wife. The Elitz home was barricaded and guarded by police all Sunday night and up to yesterday afternoon when Mr. Elitz informed the police that he and his friends would stand guard until Stumpner was located. Mrs. Stumpner, during the entire time, has been almost hysterical with fear, although becoming reassured to some extent today.

He Implores Forgiveness.

Last night and this morning Stumpner was heard from three letters being received from him postmarked Baltimore, all of the same tenor, imploring forgiveness and promising to do better if his bride would return. In the event she declined, however, Stumpner informed her he would send the remainder of her clothing should she desire.

Family Not Impressed.

These two conflicting statements, therefore, do not impress the Eltz family or Stumpner's wife favorably, and she has expressed the intention of remaining, for a time at least, at her father's home. She is also of the opinion that her husband came to Washington as indicated by the Baltimore dispatch, but learning that his mission had become known, returned on the next train for that city.

SEVERAL WOMEN NAMED BY EAMES

Statement About Correspondents Attributed to Prima Donna's Mother.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Emma Eames, the famous operatic soprano who is suing her husband, Julian Story, for absolute divorce in Westchester county, kept herself secluded in her apartments at the Hotel Astor yesterday until evening, when she went to Baltimore, where the Metropolitan Opera Company plays a three-day engagement before going to Washington. The intimate friends of the prima donna say that she has no intention of abandoning the divorce proceedings, which will begin at White Plains April 7.

Lawyers for both sides are blocking all efforts to learn the special allegations made in the singer's application, but Mrs. Eames' mother is reported as saying that several young Philadelphia women are mentioned in her daughter's petition.

Mr. Story has not come over from Philadelphia, but remains at his studio in the Quaker City, where he refuses to make any statement whatever. To all questions he refers the inquirers to his attorney, Thomas Leaming, who is also uncommunicative.

Mr. Story's mother says that his wife's petition need not be filed at White Plains until April 7.

ABSOLUTE POWER RESTS IN "LOCAL"

"The wild talk that a strike is impending and that building operations are to be held up, does not benefit organized labor, nor does it encourage capital," said James W. Considine, secretary of the recently organized Building Trades' Mechanics Council, which meets today to consider the resolution adopted by the Master Builders' Association last Saturday night to refer to the arbitrators the question in dispute between the master plumbers and the journeymen.

"There is no trouble in the ranks of the building trades; the men and contractors are working in harmony, and we hope to straighten out the tangle between the master plumbers and the journeymen," continued Secretary Considine. "I believe the cool heads will prevail. It is unfortunate that there should have been any difference as to meaning of sections 5 and 6 of the arbitrators award. To my understanding, the case is simple. The arbitrators distinctly state that the contracts of June 8, 1904, and of April 14, 1905, with the shop rules adopted thereunder, dated November 6, 1903, are held to be in force, and, that being true, Local No. 5, in my opinion, has the right to exercise full authority over its members, and to say whether the members may work in a shop where non-union plumbers are employed."

"The suggestion to submit to the arbitrators sections 5 and 6 of the award for interpretation must be acceptable to the journeymen before we will act. This matter is not all one-sided. There are a few of the leading master builders and master plumbers who say that the journeymen are right in their contention that the award of the arbitrators gives to Local No. 5 full authority over its members to work in a shop where non-union plumbers are at work."

"It's the wild rumors of strikes and tie-ups that injure our local contractors," Members of the board of arbitrators have sent word, it was said today, to the Master Builders and the Building Trades' Mechanics Council that they will not sit again on the dispute between the master plumbers and the journeymen unless both parties unite in the request.

MORGAN'S GARDEN PROTECTS PICTURES

Half Million Spent Preparatory to Guarding Museum From Fire.

NEW YORK, March 26.—J. Pierpont Morgan has announced his intention of demolishing the old Dodge house, for which he recently paid $500,000, to make his art museum absolutely safe from fire.

The museum, which stands in the same block, bounded by Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh streets, Park and Madison avenues, was built at a cost of $2,000,000. It is thoroughly fireproof. Mr. Morgan realized, however, the danger to the art collection that might arise from a burnable structure adjoining the museum. His idea is to get an open space all around it. The open area will be turned into a landscape garden. This $500,000 garden will have a frontage of sixty-seven feet, with a depth of 160 feet.

Almost the entire block is owned by Mr. Morgan, who recently bought the Phelps house at the Thirty-seventh street corner of Madison avenue for $900,000, and presented it to J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr. Mr. Morgan himself and his daughter, Mrs. Satterlee, occupy the houses on the Thirty-seventh street corner.

A peculiar feature of the robbery was the fact that the robber overlooked money and valuables including silverware and heirlooms valued at $10,000. All the articles were in an iron safe which was kept in an alcove off a bedroom.

It is believed by the members of the household that the man was frightened before he could take any of these articles.

U. S. S. GEORGIA OVER THE MEASLES

After nearly half a hundred sailors suffering from measles had been sent ashore for treatment at the naval hospital at Norfolk, the new battleship Georgia, on which the measles epidemic first developed a month ago, was thoroughly fumigated and renovated yesterday and started out to sea today.

The battleship was accompanied on her journey to Guantanamo by the sprick and span new cruiser, T. Louis, which has gone out for her first formal duty. The St. Louis is commanded by Commander Nathaniel B. Usher, who, until he was assigned to this duty, was an assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Navigation.

Efforts are being made to locate the relatives of Irene Taylor, colored, twenty-nine years old, who died yesterday in the Homeopathic Hospital. The woman went to the hospital a few days ago, and gave her address as 215 Rhode Island avenue northwest. The body was removed to the morgue, and investigation developed the fact that there is no such address.
